

Call for papers to iKAR 2027 issue dedicated to consumer law

I. The Centre for Antitrust and Regulatory Studies (CARs), operating within the Faculty of Management at the University of Warsaw, invites authors to submit texts for the next issue of the "internet Antitrust and Regulatory Quarterly" (iKAR) dedicated to various aspects of consumer law.

This issue of iKAR will focus on the topics of consumer law, both law in books and law in action.

II. Submitted manuscripts may address, for example, the following topics:

- prohibition of practices infringing collective consumer interests,
- prohibition of unfair contract terms,
- prohibition of unfair commercial practices,
- Digital Services Act,
- consumer protection law in the context of the Artificial Intelligence Act,
- consumer protection law in the context of the green transition, including as an instrument to combat greenwashing,
- consumer protection law versus personal data protection,
- product and service liability,
- consumer protection in the tourism services market,
- consumer protection in the financial services market.

We warmly invite authors to submit texts devoted to these issues from substantive law, procedural, institutional perspectives and/or other perspectives. The above issues may be presented in scientific articles concerning EU law, national law, or from a comparative law perspective.

III. Texts may take the form of:

- scientific articles;
- reviews of law, case law from courts and/or consumer protection authorities;
- case commentaries or annotations on judgments of EU or national courts;

- reports from significant events in areas within iKAR's scope;
- reviews of national or foreign publications.

IV. Texts should be submitted through the Editorial Manager system available on the iKAR website under the Submit Article tab in the left-hand menu.

Texts submitted for this issue should comply with iKAR's editorial standards and ethical guidelines. Submitted articles must include an abstract and a list of keywords in both Polish and English, JEL code(s) and statement on the scope of use of AI tools. Authors are also asked to provide an English title. Each article should also include a note indicating the author's affiliation, an ORCID number and an email address for publication.

Articles are subject to double-blind peer review in accordance with the review guidelines adopted by the editorial board.

V. We invite submissions from academic staff, including doctoral students, and professionals (judges, attorneys, legal advisors, legal and economic consultants) interested in the subject matter of the journal.

VI. The issue 4/2027 will be published in the fourth quarter of 2027.

The deadline for submitting texts in the system is 28 December 2026.

Authors are welcome to notify the issue editors in advance of their intention to submit a text (e-mail: mknapp@wz.uw.edu.pl).
